Privilege

While walking around the school this week, I was stopped by a Grade 2 boy who challenged me for walking on the grass – a serious rule at Lendy Park as we strive to keep our school green. While the first instinct might be to reprimand the child for a perceived lack of respect for someone in authority, the opposite is true.

It is in moments like these that I can see the fruits of our hard work at Lendy Park. Our children understand that no one is above the rules – not even those in authority – and that we are all equal. This principle is the foundation of any successful community.

Unfortunately, this value has been lost in a society obsessed with status. Through God's eyes, there are no VIPs, let alone VVIPs – we are all sinners who can equally find salvation through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

I am deeply encouraged to see that our children have the courage to stand up to authority when it is in the wrong and to speak the truth.

Developments

I would invite you all to take walk around the school if you have not done so recently. The school is looking beautiful, if I may say so.

Thanks to the money raised by the various Parents Association activities, with a little help from the third term levy, we have managed to complete the desperately needed painting of the classroom exteriors; Grade 1 and 2 interiors and the ceilings of the remaining classrooms.

None of this would have been possible without you, the parents of Lendy Park School.

Thank you!
