Preparing Our Children for the Future

Education is fundamentally about equipping our children for the future. However, this raises an important question - what will the future look like?

Reflecting on the past two years, I am astonished by how much has changed, not only within our school but across the world. How, then, can we ensure that our children are prepared to succeed in an ever-evolving landscape?

At Lendy Park, I firmly believe we are doing just that. While academic knowledge remains essential - particularly in a society that prioritises examinations and rankings - it is now readily accessible through internet search tools and AI assistants. However, true education extends beyond facts and figures; it lies in the skills our children acquire, the values they embrace, and the firm foundation they build upon biblical truths.

These are the true gold standards of education: when a child possesses a strong moral compass to guide their decisions, understands that their salvation and purpose is secure through Jesus Christ, and develops the ability to make sound judgments rooted in biblical truth, they are well-prepared to become men and women of integrity: the leaders of tomorrow.

Our Expected Student Outcomes (ESOs) reflect the essence of a Lendy Park education, highlighting the core values that shape our students into principled, capable, and faith-driven individuals.

Philippians 3:13-14 "Brothers and sisters, I do not consider myself yet to have taken hold of it. But one thing I do: Forgetting what is behind and straining toward what is ahead, I press on toward the goal to win the prize for which God has called me heavenward in Christ Jesus."
