It's Just a Weed ...

It is fascinating how a simple field can teach us profound lessons about life and education. This truth has been brought home to me on a large scale when reflecting on our school fields.

If we ignore a single weed, it isn't long before we find ourselves dealing with an infestation - they spread everywhere, and the problem becomes increasingly difficult and costly to manage.

I would argue that life operates in much the same way. When we overlook small issues, they soon grow into far greater challenges, becoming harder and more complex to resolve.

This principle is especially true when it comes to raising children. Addressing behaviour issues while they are still small makes them relatively easy to correct, but if ignored, they can soon become overwhelming.

Let us be diligent in enforcing the little rules so that we do not find ourselves facing much bigger problems in the future. Encourage your child to tend to their life as they would a garden - removing the weeds of negativity, distractions, and bad habits that hold them back, so they can grow and flourish.

Inter – House Athletics

A huge thank you to everyone who came out to support the school and their children at our annual inter-house athletics competition.

A big well done to Hungwe for their victory at the event, but an even bigger 'shout out' to every athlete who participated on the day.

Giving your best in activities you may not necessarily enjoy is excellent preparation for the future and a true measure of success. Success is not just about winning; it is about completing a task to the very best of your ability, regardless of how you feel about it.

I love the phrase, 'Carpe Diem' as it says it all about being successful.
